For Virginia Clients

I am a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) licensed in the District of Columbia. I currently do not have my license in the state of Virginia. This does not mean that I cannot practice in Virginia but it does require that I am supervised by a counselor licensed in the state of Virginia. I am currently under supervision with Salma Abugideiri, LPC. This means that at times I may discuss case information regarding only clients that I see in Virginia with her in the process of clinical supervision. My supervisor is held under the same confidentiality restrictions as am I and case matters are discussed in private with only myself and the supervisor present. If you are seeing me in my Reston, VA office and you have an issue with this arrangement for any reason please discuss it with me.

Thank you,

Abdallah Ezekiel Eric Rothman, LPC, ATR-BC
